

GAME 03 · LAST CALL

PARTY BINGO

Observation, not luck (mostly).

Eight unique cards. Mark a square when you see it happen. First to five in a row wins.

8 UNIQUE CARDS · CALLER SHEET · 10-25 MINUTES

BINGO, BUT MAKE IT AFTER-HOURS

This is not "pumpkin / bat / ghost" clipart bingo. It is people-watching with a win condition.

01

Print one card per player (or per duo). Single-sided. Keep the caller sheet on the host.

02

The caller does not draw balls. The room is the hopper. When someone spots a square, they mark it.

03

Classic win: five in a row, any direction. Optional chaos: four corners, or full blackout if the party is long.

04

Honor system, with one veto: the host can throw out a square that didn't actually happen.

05

When someone wins, they read the line. The room confirms. Prize, then optionally play to blackout.

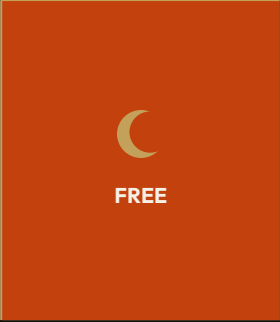

06

If two people win on the same sighting, they split the candy. Capitalism is cancelled until midnight.

Pro move: laminate one set if your office does this every October. You know who you are.

CARD 01

5 in a row · blackout optional · mark as you spot it

B	I	N	G	O
Cape that keeps getting stepped on	Name-tag-as-costume energy	"Sexy [job title]" costume	HR-safe costume that's still a choice	"I made this in 20 minutes"
Plastic fangs in a drink	Mini bottles labeled as potions	"Is this gluten-free?"	Glow sticks after 9pm	Didn't get the costume memo
Black cat (live, shirt, or tattoo)	Small talk through face paint		Time Warp, unironically	Thought the party was next Friday
Horror quote, slightly wrong	Battery pack hanging out	"Wait — is that a real Ouija?"	Person photographing everyone else	Mask off during snacks
Coworker you didn't recognize	"I'm not in costume" (wearing orange)	Couple costume (on purpose)	Candy bowl already destroyed	Playlist hits Monster Mash